Little Willie McDonald Drowned
In the Tennessee Opposite the City.

IN SWIMMING LAST EVENING

Body Recovered and Will Be Taken to Lawton a Bluff for Burial.

DIVER ETTER GOT THE BODY

Willie McDonald, aged 13, was drowned about ten o'clock last evening in the Tennessee river near a raft of logs moved to the bank of the river opposite the city.

He and several companions were in swimming, and as he was about to get out, he fell into the water. He was seen by a diver named Etter, who recovered the body and took it to the Lawton a bluff for burial.

The rescue was taken aboard Charles Ashby's launch and prepared for burial, being taken to Lawton's bluff for interment.

BRIDGE WASHED AWAY.

It Was Just Paid for by the County Saturday.

The Emory bridge, on the Woodville road, which was paid for by the county Saturday, to the tune of $214, was washed away by the heavy rain Saturday. This was no more than was expected from the position in which it was located, according to Judge Tully, who said he was not surprised when asked about it by a reporter this morning, and that he paid for the bridge only on a guarantee that it would be replaced should it wash away.

It was reported this afternoon by people from the country that all that kept the bridge from being washed entirely away was the old bridge, against which it lodged. The old bridge proved to be better than the new one.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The discussion of the troubles in the island region is pursued energetically in spite of the rainy season, which causes a cessation of offensive operations. In London, according to the following dispatch received by the war department this morning: Manila, P. I., July 24.—The campaign against the mountain robber bands in Negros is more successful than reported. Captain Byrne with seventy men, from the Sixth infantry, killed one third of the 450 assembled, including their leader, a Spaniard. Byrne was then made by Lieutenant Evans and a detachment of the Sixth infantry, who killed three and captured one of the robbers. He also captured a hundred head of stock and many spears and knives, and a large quantity of provisions and destroyed a hundred hogs. POLICE COURT

Short Session for Monday Morning—Few Fines Assessed.

Augusta Ligon Was Acquitted—Adam Weikert Fined One Cent.

Augusta Ligon, colored, was this morning acquitted on a charge of stealing a pair of cuff buttons from John Clark, colored. They were in the lockup at the same time, and she admitted to having the buttons, but admitted she was given them by Clark to take home and he got out at her and had her arrested instead of giving her time to get them.

Adam Weikert was fined one cent and costs for striking a one armed negro named Hawley. He stepped on the latter's foot and the latter used some insulting language, which resulted in a fight.

JAS. M. LANG, Mayor.

There is a thing or two, however, which even the mayor has overlooked in his conscientious perusal of the law.

The clause which says all officers elected "shall hold office until their terms expire," also qualifies it with the provision, "until their successors are elected and qualified." No matter what office a man may hold, his successor may be elected and qualified before the term of office expires, as in case of death, resignation, or impeachment. There is really no argument in the office term business. When ever Paducah becomes a city of the second class all terms of office under the former charter will expire. The terms fixed by that charter cannot extend beyond the operation of the charter itself. According to the mayor's card a man must hold office two years if he is elected for two years, no matter if he be dead or in some foreign country.

Mr. Bryan has written a letter to the Democracy of Kentucky asking for support for the Louisville ticket.

The letter is no credit to Mr. Bryan's usual judgment, for he clearly writes through fear that the row in Democratic ranks in the state will sac-riifice the national ticket. It is not that he loves (Goebel) and his gang, but that he loves himself and the cause of silver. But the Democrats will accept Goebel just to foster a cause which can be looked after later. Goebel is a home fight with them and outsiders need not meddle.

SELF PRESERVATION.

Louisville Commercial, "Go to it but with settled determination," the business interests of Kentucky are preparing for their campaign against Goebelism, which is in effect a campaign for self preservation. Business will not be good in Kentucky under the rule of a Goebel administration. The substantial business of the state cannot thrive under the law which Goebel says shall be enacted this year. Population will not increase with suffrage destroyed through the unpalatable crimes of a partisan election commission.

"The business community in Kentucky sees, at last, to what straits it has been brought by democratic execution and to what new dangers it will be exposed by democratic success at the polls this year. It sees, after a long period of disastrous blindness, the wrong drift of democratic infraction and democratic law making in this state. It has discovered that capital has no rights which a democratic legislature is willing to respect. It has seen one enterprise after another decline and collapse under the injustice and inequalities of democratic taxation until the whole industrial fabric is alarmed at its future. Under spur of the encouragement comprised in the intemperance of the Republican platform, the business interests of the state are making,

A PROTEST

Independent Democratic Side of the State Canvass.

In a Timely and Thoughtful Editorial the Lexington Herald

Explains Its Position.

Lexington Herald, 21st: "We have as yet been unable to find in any publication approving the nomination of Mr. Goebel or to admitting to it the slightest intimation that he was the choice of the Democratic party of Kentucky. We presume that both Mr. Goebel nor any of his friends would claim that upon a fair contest conducted in a manner to secure the unbiased choice of the Democracy of Kentucky would he have the slightest chance to obtain a nomination. In deed the highest quality recorded him by his most enthusiastic followers is that he is a man of the number of days in the history of his nomination did not equal more than one fifth, if indeed one sixth, of the legally elected delegates to the convention. By immense methods, delegates professing to be for other andidates, but at heart for him, obtained election to the convention who otherwise would not have been sent.

Yet when these were added to those who openly were for him they would not have constituted one third of the convention.

"We have been struck during the month which has elapsed since the convention met with the selfishness with which the supporters of Mr. Goebel put forth the proposition that the action of the convention, without regard to the question as to whether it expresses the will of the majority or not, is binding, that it does not make any difference whether that action is based upon the will of the majority or upon some trick or device or fraud, that the result reached by any method remains binding upon the consciences or actions of all Democrats. It is against this proposition and against the practical application of it that the Herald has constantly protested.

We have made no personal attack upon Mr. Goebel, no reference in any way to any personal act of his entire life. We have made no defense from the action of Captain Stone, nor any to the conduct of General Harbo.

The personal aspect in this question is in quite too trivial.

"We believe that all modes of election have for their object the ascertainment and execution of the honest will of the legal voters. We are, therefore, opposed to the election of, and to all methods, no matter what they are nor how disguised, which make a result that is known to be fraudulent but does under forms of law equivalent to the honest and legitimate result. And upon the same principles and for the same reasons we oppose in any party and denounce when committed by any convention a dishonest result reached by improper means, and then claim to have the same effect as if the result was a honest result reached by legal
